[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Copenhagen, Sept. 1.—According to an official dispatch received at the Colonial office and made public by the official today, Dr. Cook, an American Arctic explorer, has reached the North Pole.
Last Year.
The dispatch states that Dr. Cook and his party succeeded in his efforts on April 21st of last year and that he is now returning. The message which was sent to Copenhagen, came from Lerwick, in the Shetland Islands.
His Party.
Dr. Cook, who comes from Brooklyn, N. Y., accompanied by one Norwegian, eight Esquimaux, four sledges and twelve dog teams, left Etah, Greenland, March 3, 1898. He was to cross Bismarck Land and thence go as far north as possible.
Coming Back.
Dr. Cook is on the Danish government steamer, "Hans Egede," which passed Lerwick at noon today enroute for Denmark and it was from this vessel that the dispatch was sent.
Sent Officially.
The telegram was sent to Copenhagen by a Greenland official on board a steamer and stated that the American explorer, Dr. Cook, had reached the North Pole on April 21st, 1908.
In Greenland.
Dr. Cook arrived at Upernivik, the northernmost Danish settlement in Greenland on an island off the coast in May of this year coming from Cape York, the port in the northwest portion of Greenland on Baffin Bay.
Tell Same Story.
The Greenland official states that the Esquimaux of the Cape York country substantiate Dr. Cook's story of his journey and of his wonderful discovery of the long sought for Pole.
More Words.
Dr. R. T. Davidson, of Brooklyn, a personal friend of Dr. Cook, received a cablegram from Cook today saying he was well and that his expedition had been a success. The message did not say whether the explorer had reached the Pole or not.

TAX EFFECTIVE ON FOREIGN-MADE BOATS

All Pleasure Craft Made Out of United States Will Have to Pay Custom or Ad Valorem Tax.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—The new custom tax to be levied on foreign-built yachts, as provided under the terms of the Payne law, became operative today. Several complicated questions have arisen in connection with the enforcement of the law, but the most of these have already been settled by the Treasury Department officials.
The new tax applies to vessels launched exclusively for pleasure craft, which have not been admitted to American registry, whether owned or chartered. A tax of $7 per gross ton is fixed by the new tariff act, but in lieu of this annual assessment the proprietor of the yacht may, in his option, pay a flat tax of 35 per cent ad valorem, which will excuse him from the payment of an additional annual tax. Owners of foreign-built yachts are now busy figuring on these two propositions, to ascertain which form of tax will be more economical.

FIGURES GIVEN BY GOVERNMENT

CENSUS OF RELIGIOUS BODIES IN THE UNITED STATES.

ARE FEWER MALE MEMBERS

The total number of church members in the United States numbered nearly thirty-three millions in 1906, that there were a billion and a quarter dollars invested in church edifices; that every day eight new churches were being erected; that males formed considerably less than half the total church membership; that a larger percentage of Catholic males than Protestant males were members; that in 16 states the majority of the total church membership were Roman Catholics; but that of the grand total of church members reported for the United States 61.6 per cent were Protestants and 38.4 per cent Roman Catholics; these are the salient and conspicuous facts appearing in the proof sheets of a United States Census bureau bulletin, prepared by Chief Statistician William C. Hunt of the division of population, of the United States Census bureau.
The bulletin will be issued this month. It is in the nature of an abstract of the comprehensive report, now in press, giving the results of the fifth census of religious bodies in the United States.
Fewer Males Than Female Members
It is stated that United States census statistics of church membership by sex were collected for the first time in 1906. Of the total number of members reported by the various religious bodies and classified by sex, 43.1 per cent were males and 56.9 per cent females. Among the Protestants the difference was greater, only 39.3 per cent being males. In the Roman Catholic churches there were relatively more males, the number forming 49.3 per cent of the total membership.
Fewer males than females were found among the Latter-day Saints, the Lutheran, Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, and Protestant Episcopal churches, the percentages of male members decreasing in the order shown, and there being but 35.5 per cent of males among the Latter-day Saints. Among the Christian Scientists, only 27.6 per cent were males; and of the Shakers but 21.3 per cent; but in the Greek orthodox church, 93.9 per cent were male, as practically all Greek immigrants have been males.
Prevalence in Total Population
Of the total estimated population of continental United States in 1906, the church members formed 39.1 per cent, as against 32.7 per cent for 1890, amounting to 6.4 per cent more in 1906 than in 1890. Of this 6.4 per cent increase, the Roman Catholic church is credited with 4.4 per cent, and the protestants with 1.8 per cent; the remainder being divided among all other denominations.
It is stated in the bulletin that the total number of members reported by the various religious bodies for 1906 was 32,936,445, of which number the Protestants were credited with 20,237,742, and the Roman Catholics with 12,698,703. Of the Protestant bodies the Methodists numbered 5,749,828; the Baptists 5,622,241; the Lutherans, 2,112,404; the Presbyterians, 1,830,555; and the Episcopalians, 1,142,359.
Of the total of 32,936,445 church members, 61.6 per cent were Protestants; 38.4 per cent, Roman Catholic; and 1.7 per cent, members of other religious organizations. The ratio of increase shown for the Roman Catholic church is 93.5 per cent, which is more than twice that for all the Protestant bodies combined. The Methodists reported 17.5 per cent of all Protestant church members; the Baptists, 17.2 per cent.
Increase in Number of Organizations
The total number of local religious organizations in 1906 is given as 125,230, an increase since 1890 of 47,079, or 38.4 per cent. The Protestants are credited with an increase in this particular amounting to 27.8 per cent; the Roman Catholic church, 21.3 per cent; the Jewish congregation, 23.9 per cent; and the Latter-day Saints, 28.5 per cent.
The Methodists reported the largest number of local organizations, 61,701; the Baptists reported 54,881; the Presbyterians, 15,506; the Lutherans, 12,703; and the Roman Catholics, 12,482.
Other interesting features of the bulletin are those showing that the total seating capacity of churches was 58,536,830, an increase over the 1890 United States census figures of 34.4 per cent; that the ratio of increase was practically the same for both Protestants and Roman Catholics, and kept pace with the increase in population; and that $1,257,575,867 was invested in church edifices in 1906. The total amount of debt was $108,050,946, or 8.5 per cent of the total value; of this total the Protestant bodies owed $53,301,254 and the Roman Catholics, $49,488,055. In 16 states a majority of the church members were Roman Catholic; in 23 states, Protestant; and in 1, Utah, Latter-day Saints.

Very Bad Cough. Pe-ru-na Stopped It.

DAUGHTER OF MRS. J. M. BROWN.
Mrs. J. M. Brown, Dunnegan, Mo., writes: "My little daughter, three years old, was troubled with a very bad cough which remained after an attack of scarlet fever, which was a great deal worse than night."
"She would wake up out of her sleep and cough until I feared she could not stand it."
"Nothing that we gave her seemed to do her any good. I then concluded to send for Dr. Hartman's book entitled 'The Ills of Life,' which I promptly received."
"I at the same time commenced giving her Pe-ru-na. She has taken one bottle in all, through which she has obtained a complete cure."
"She also since her birth was troubled with indigestion, but since she has taken Pe-ru-na she can eat almost any kind of food without any bad results."
"She is now as well and happy as any little girl can be. When our friends say how well she looks, I tell them Pe-ru-na did it."
"I shall always be a friend of Pe-ru-na, as I consider it the best medicine for coughs and indigestion we have ever tried, and will recommend it to any one similarly afflicted."
MRS. LINDA J. SPOONER, Santa Monica, Cal., writes that they are never without Pe-ru-na in the home, that they find it the finest family remedy they have ever used.

A great character, founded on the living rock of principle, is, in fact, not a solitary phenomenon, to be at once perceived, limited and described. It is a disposition of Providence, designed to have not merely an immediate, but a continuous, progressive, never-ending agency. It survives the man who possessed it; survives his age; and perhaps his country, his language.—Edward Everett.

Industrial Education.
For training the workman the technical school can never supplant the workshop. The system that is likely to give the best results is a combination of part time apprenticeship and compulsory attendance at technical schools.—London Electrical Review.

The horses will all be paraded tomorrow morning at nine in front of the Grand stand and there will be judged by George Hutton, the state's expert. The entries in this class are exceptionally good.
Tomorrow is Evansville day and all the towns will be closed from two until four and the Edgerton Manufacturing Company will be closed all day Thursday and Friday as well. The Edgerton band furnished the music for today's crowds and other bands will be engaged for the remainder of the week.

The ball game between the Edgerton and Grubbs' Knights played at the fair Tuesday afternoon proved to be a close and exciting contest. The Edgerton Juniors won the game, the score being 7 to 5. The lineup was as follows:

FIRE IN EDGERTON BRICK KILN SHEDS

Whittet Brick Yards in Tobacco City Scene of a Lively Conflagration.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Wis., Sept. 1.—Fire was discovered last night between twelve and one o'clock in the kiln sheds of the Whittet Brick yard. Fortunately the place where the fire started was away from the other buildings, which otherwise might all have been destroyed, and was confined entirely to the sheds. As Edgerton is without a fire alarm and has only a volunteer company it was some time before the citizens could be aroused and drag the hose carts to the scene of the blaze, although the engine worked steadily calling up those who had the phone and attempting to arouse the others by telephoning to their neighbors. Since the fire has been taken from the tower, which stood on the railroad company's land, it has been of little use, being hung on front street about six feet from the ground, so that the sound does not travel far.
The Edgerton band is playing in the Evansville fair today and many from here accompanied them.
The Edgerton baseball team crossed bats today with the Evansville team as one of the attractions at the fair in that city.

RIGHT TO EVALUATE IS NOT QUESTIONED

Janesville Water Co. Has No Contention With Rate Commission on This Score.
"That the State Railroad commission has jurisdiction to proceed to make an evaluation of the Janesville Water company's plant, has never been questioned," said C. S. Jackman this morning.
"We report to the commission every year. It has no power to our books and may send engineers here to inspect the property whenever it sees fit. As a matter of fact some of them would have gone over the plant this year and it not been for the fact that they preferred not to make the investigation at a time when we were busy with collections. The so-called decision announced in yesterday's Gazette was therefore only the assertion of a right which nobody for a moment contests."
"We do not question the commission's jurisdiction over our plant. Our contract with the city of Janesville is the thing at issue, and on this the so-called decision has no bearing whatsoever."
"There is a good deal of misapprehension regarding these questions of rate and rate, and decisions in such cases, and it is a pity that the public is so concerned with a particular situation. It is true that the commission made a somewhat sweeping decision but when the consequences were foreseen, that body took steps to have a law passed leaving the whole question of rates entirely within its own discretion."
"It would cost the Milwaukee company $100,000 to pay for meters at the ready installed. It would cost the Janesville company $15,000. The companies could not stand such large outlays without raising the rates paid by consumers and it stands to reason that the commission would have to give its sanction to such increases in view of the additional investments."
"The commission is not making war on the public utility corporations. It is composed of able men and is interested only in securing fair dealing. We shall be perfectly satisfied with any decision it may make."

TEXAS OIL BINDER ON THE HIGHWAY

Standard Oil Man Arrived This Morning to Give St. Lawrence Avenue a "Treatment."
J. D. Harbeck of Milwaukee, a representative of the Standard Oil Co., arrived here this morning to begin operations for C. S. Jackman and others in spreading a Texas oil binder and dust extermiator on the section of St. Lawrence avenue lying between the East and Jackson street intersections. He brought with him 400 gallons of the petroleum asphaltum. It is said to contain no paraffine or gasoline and the claim is advanced that one thorough application will last a whole season. One half gallon to the square yard will be used. During the first "treatment" and the cost of oil approximately 5 cents per half the amount will be required for a second application. If the oil were purchased here in bulk quantities it is said that the cost could be reduced to 3 cents a square yard. In any event, if the experiment works out, it will be much cheaper than sprinkling.

The road has been cleaned of dust and dirt and a spreading of stone screenings will be going over it before the oil is applied with pump and hose and broom. Cement gutters will be covered up during the operation.

Mr. Harbeck has just applied some 20,000 gallons to 22d avenue boulevard in Milwaukee and says that the treatment is meeting with favor in Oak Park, Ill., and Chicago. He declares that it can be used to advantage on hard dirt as well as gravel and macadam roads.

THE HEAVENS IN SEPTEMBER.

By Professor Eric Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mars nearer to us on September 17 than it has been since 1902. The occultation of Mars. Rare and interesting phenomenon.

This is the one month of the year in which there is no trace of the bright winter constellations in the early evening. The last stars of Leo have sunk in the west, and not until the beginning of next month will the brilliant little group of the Pleiades appear low in the northeast, heralding the long train of brilliant winter stars. The great Arcturus, so crowded by early astrologers, is leaving the evening sky, while to take its place the red Pomegranate, or Royal Star, has appeared in the southeast. These two great stars with the brilliant Vega overhead are the three brightest stars now in the heavens.
The wonderful Milky Way, with its clouds of countless stars, forms a golden arch extending from Perseus in the north to Sagittarius in the south, while nearly overhead is the Lyre.
"Whose strings give music audible To holy ears, and countless splendours crown'd by the blazing cross high-crown'd Cygnus or all."
Below Cygnus is the beautiful Aquila, which was possibly named for the bird of highest flight in the early ages when the sun here attained its highest position in the ble in the largest telescopes. But most interesting of all is the wonderful Mira, or Omicron Ceti, whose light increases a thousandfold at an interval of about 331 days; at these times it has sometimes become brighter than the Pole Star, though when faintest it is not visible in a small telescope. This star, which is at L. Fig. 1, nearly in line with the stars I and K, will attain its greatest brightness on or about the 7th of September. After this date the observer may watch it gradually fade away until it becomes invisible. These far-distant stars are believed to be surrounded by heavy vapors, through which material from the interior is intermittently forced, the cause of the gigantic eruptions, which occur periodically in the hot central mass, are as yet not known.

THE PLANETS.
Both Mars and Saturn have now entered the evening sky, and will at once attract the observer's attention as they shine out in the East, with no bright star near them. The former planet especially is strikingly brilliant—by far the brightest object now in the heavens. Both bodies are moving westward in the Constellation of the Fishes; Mars will move month. It is nevertheless a conspicuous object, and may be seen throughout the month in the southwest after sunset.

Jupiter, which is now too near the sun to be observed, passed behind that body and enters the morning sky on September 18.

ervation with a small telescope. It is 11 minutes following and 1 degree 38 minutes south of the star at P. Fig. 1. It will be recognized by its dull greenish color, even if the telescope is too small to show its disc.

THE OCCULTATION OF MARS.

When the nearly full moon rises on the evening of September 1, observers in the eastern part of the United States will see the brilliant red planet Mars shining out almost on its edge. A very few minutes' watching will show that our satellite is moving nearer the planet, and soon after it will be seen to pass between us and this body, gradually cutting off its light. The planet will remain hidden about one hour, after which it will emerge from the moon's west edge. As viewed from Washington, the planet will disappear at the point A, Fig. 2, at 8 hours 50 minutes P. M., and reappear at B

57 minutes later. These times, however, greatly vary at different places. In the southwest they are nearly an hour earlier, while as seen from the Southern States the path A B lies nearer the lower edge of the moon. To observers in the far west the moon will not rise until the planet is hidden.

This rare and most interesting phenomenon will well repay observation. As the exact time of occurrence for any observer cannot be predicted without a special computation, he should note the relative positions of the two bodies as soon as the moon has risen. By then considering that the moon moves eastward a distance equal to its own diameter in about one hour, he will run little risk of missing the planet's disappearance.

heavens. Its brightest star, Altair, is so far distant that its light occupies 15 years in coming to us, and is drifting across the face of the sky with a motion rapid enough to change its position an amount equal to the diameter of the moon in the course of 3000 years.

Along the eastern border of the Milky Way the most striking groups are the singular Dolphin, or Job's Coffin, at L. Fig. 1; the Great Square of Pegasus, at R, and Andromeda, with its wonderful Nebula, at N. Both this and the great star cluster in Hercules, at V, are beautiful objects in a small telescope, and are even visible to the naked eye.

The position of the Milky Way between Lyra, Cygnus and The Eagle is so rich in red stars that it is sometimes called the Red Region. Many of these are wonderful variables. The small red star at L, which varies from the eleventh to nearly the sixth magnitude in a period of 551 days, will attain its greatest brightness on the 27th of this month. A similar deep red star at V varies in a still more remarkable manner, fading away to the fourteenth magnitude every 420 days, when it is only visible from A to B, Fig. 1, during the month, while Saturn, which is at C, 15 years in coming to us, and is drifting across the face of the sky with a motion rapid enough to change its position an amount equal to the diameter of the moon in the course of 3000 years.

Mars is in opposition with the sun on September 17. It is nearest the earth on September 18, when it is but 36,000,000 miles away, which is its nearest approach since 1902. This will be the most favorable time of the year for observing it. The rings of Saturn are well widened out, and such of the bodies forms an object of absorbing interest for study with a small telescope.

Mercury attains its greatest distance east of the sun on September 17, and may be detected a few evenings before or after this date low in the southwest, just after sunset. As the planet is now far below the equator, it is less easily observed than at its previous eastern elongation, last May.

Venus is drawing rapidly away from the sun, but since it is also moving more rapidly below the equator than at any other time during this year, it will not, apparently, mount higher in the sky during this

IS A GOLD BRICK

It is peculiar how an eastern politician, one versed in the game of politics from A to Z, can reach a conclusion that the primary law that Wisconsin and other of the middle western states suffer from is a gold brick pure and simple, after carefully investigating the workings of the law.
It is strange that this conclusion is reached by experts in politics when the Wisconsin leaders believed it a panacea for all evils. Assemblyman
Robert J. Conklin of New York City, a member of the investigating committee from that state that investigated the Wisconsin law, has the following interesting conclusion of his work that will be read carefully by those who know the law and its workings:

"Direct nomination as we have seen it is the greatest gold brick that was ever handed to a confiding people."

Assemblyman Conklin voted for a direct nomination bill in 1907 and 1908, but voted against the Illinois
Green bill this year. He says hereafter he will oppose direct nominations.

"The people of New York state," he said, "have no idea of the political na-turity that exists in the middle western states. Direct nominations have driven parties entirely out of existence in many communities. In Wisconsin there is no longer a republican party and a democratic party. There are several factions, the most prominent of which are the stalwarts and the halfbreeds. The latter are the followers of La Fayette and the former are his opponents. Those who were at one time democrats have disappeared and have gone into the republican party, so called, to vote at the primaries. There are no longer party principles but only personal views of faction leaders.

"To some extent the same state of affairs exists in Iowa and Kansas and everywhere else where this system of direct nominations is in operation. The minority party has been swallowed up.

"In every community we have visited there has been but one opinion expressed by the decent, sober, intelligent citizen, the conservative, professional men—and that has been of disgust and loathing for the political anarchy in which they had been plunged. Time and again we met with the expression from the biggest men in the cities we visited: 'For God's sake, do not inflict that iniquity on the state of New York.'"

Mayor Durren of Chicago has decreed that owing to the warm weather (?)
the edict on straw hats will not be effective today, but that species of headgear may be worn until September 15.

Box-cars are going where duty calls them at this time of the year.

September promises to all the wheels of industry in a very proper manner.

The latest river to lose its meander line is the Mississippi at East St.
Louis. There should be some way to tie up those streams so they would stay at home.

Two men were fatally shot in New York the other day in a row over a clam. There is such a thing as carrying one's love to an extreme when dumb animals are concerned.

Evansville is making a bid this week with its county fair attractions which promises to be one of the best held in the county for many years.

Wisconsin is well represented on the census board, the men who are designing the methods of working for the enumerators themselves.

Thaw has been made librarian of Mattewan, thus making the opening wedge for the literary career he was said to be contemplating.

Harriman should assume the role of the infant Hercules long enough to throttle a few of those diseases that trouble him.

The first big fish story has arrived.
The steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse has impaled a seventy-foot whale.

If Panama is going to have earthquakes it will be accused of obtaining that canal by false pretenses.

Mr. Taft will need seven-leagued boots if he is to complete the trip planned for in schedule time.

Walter Wellman has again given up his trip to the Pole owing to reasons best known to the balloon.

County fairs are now ready to begin operations and the big pumpkins are to be admired.

Heart to Heart
Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

LAY IT ON THE WOMAN.

"The woman thou gavest me, she tempted me," was the excuse of Adam in the day of his humiliation.

And, though worn threadbare by long usage, it is still the cheapest and commonest way by which a man tries to fit the responsibility of his wrongdoing to the frail shoulders of some woman.

Manlike, therefore, comes Dr. A. M.
Hamilton, an "authority" on mental diseases, to say:

"It has been my experience that had cooking and the use of poor and indigestible food have led many men to the habitual and excessive use of drinks."

Lay it on the woman, forsooth!
There may be some truth in the declaration, but in it is a slimy implu-sion of the poor wife of the drunkard.

Why not better say, for instance, the stuff the drinking man puts into his stomach from the free lunch counter is the cause of his dyspepsia and consequent awkwardness?

Note the "free lunch" menu.

One sample is a composite of the following: State bread which is the offal from some hotel or restaurant, cheap building sausages, a nicely cheese, raw cabbage and spiced pickles.

Now, honest—

Is it this sort of feast that holds men in the saloons Saturday afternoons when a good hot supper, the best the poor wife can devise, awaits him at home?

It is all very well for our alienist to talk about nutritious food and good cooking, but where will the drunkard's wife get the materials for good, first class foods?

The wife of the man who spends most of his wages in drink has neither the well supplied larder nor kitchen of a sanitarian or hospital.

While it may be true if the unfortunate wife could provide a proper diet there would be less craving for liquor stimulants, how will she get it when her provider gives his money to the saloon keeper to buy thick steaks for his family and brings to his own home a cheap soup bone or a piece of liver?

Tell us, please.

The fact is the matter resolves itself into these propositions:
If a drinking man were well fed he would drink less stimulants. And—If a drinking man spent less money for drink he would have more money to buy good food.

And there you are.

Why drag in the poor woman?

It is most expediting to the hun-of onions to be butchered by a Moor.

Spain has got a dromi-

when the Phillips and the Alvas waded ankle-deep in gore. He has learned that pomp and glory to his country that the prestige of his sceptre and his crown may be restored, and he'd write upon the ages Spanish history, with a sword. So the peasants leave their onions, with their harness on their backs, to be butchered by the heathen, with a rusty battle-axe. It's annoying to be slaughtered when you've chores you wish to do, it is trying to be quartered by a frumtle Moorish crew, and it's certainly unpleasant to have bullets in your breast, that the visions of a knight be submitted to a test!

he that saith that thou art always right is surely a liar.—Jameshyd

Enthusiastic Suffragette addressing crowd at Polo ground, New York.
Harriett Lubarger, well-known actress, addressing woman suffragists.

New York, City.—The actresses on New York stage are becoming enthusiastic woman suffrage supporters.
At the Polo grounds last Saturday Harriett Lubarger addressed a crowd of actors on the subject and a rattling good speech it was, too. She was backed up by a large number of friends well known to the footlights of New York, and while the note of uplift which ran through the address was plainly in evidence at all times there was a stirring stump speech that would have done credit to many an old campaigner.

CLUB DAY AT THE SINNISSIPPI LINKS

Three Pairs Played Their Matches in Lewis & King Tourney—Supper and Dance.
In the second round of match play of the Lewis & King special tourney, at the golf links yesterday, Dr. F. H. Farnsworth defeated Wilson Leo, George Naumann won from Leo Brownell; and Howard Black bested Stanley Tullman. The match between Charles Gage and Fred Schaller, the remaining pair, will be played off later in the week, and the semifinals will take place next Tuesday. Howard Black established a new record for the links at this season of the year, making his second round in 37. He negotiated the first nine holes in 42.

There was a good attendance at the club supper last evening and about eighteen couples were present at the weekly dancing party, for which Miss Mary Ludden, in the absence of Roy Carter from the city, and Mr. Menzies provided the musical inspiration. The barn dance, which was so popular throughout the city last season but which had to be dispensed with because it played havoc with the puffs, was again revived, and during one of the interludes Miss Ruth Gardner of Waco, Texas, won a prize of $25.00 and a diamond ring. The prize was given to her by the Ladies' Golf Association. The prize was given to her by the Ladies' Golf Association. The prize was given to her by the Ladies' Golf Association.

MILLIKEN, JR., HURT IN BIKE ACCIDENT

Son of Supt. of Machine Co. Thrown From Wheel Striking on His Head on Brick Pavement.
Norman Milliken, fifteen year old son of Norman L. Milliken, superintendent at the Janesville Machine Company, was badly injured about the face and head this morning in an accident which occurred at the corner of Main and Court streets, at about five minutes to seven. The young man was on his way to work at the Janesville Machine company, and coasted down Court street hill on his bicycle. He was going at a considerable speed when he reached the bottom, and as his wheel struck the front of a truck, the young man was hurled through the air for a distance of twenty feet, striking on the head near the curb at the corner where the La Vista Plaza stand. Bystanders who were looking over the Owen Thomas car which stood near raked up and picked up the youth and called Dr. E. P. Woods to the scene. Examination showed that the bridge of his nose had been cut almost through, his forehead was badly bruised, the two upper teeth were broken off short, much blood as if they had been cut, and his lips were cut. He was conveyed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Milliken, 815 Hyatt street, in the Owen-Thomas motor car. He is reported to be resting as easily as is possible under the circumstances.

MACHINERY EXPERT RESIGNS HIS PLACE

E. M. Heylman, Superintendent of Experimental Dept. of Machine Co. to Leave in Sixty Days.
E. M. Heylman, who for the past nine years has been employed with the Janesville Machine company as superintendent of the experimental department of the company, has resigned his position and in sixty days will leave for Rock Island, Ill., where he has a similar position with the Rock Island Plow company. His family will join him as soon as suitable apartments in Rock Island can be found. Miss Ray Heylman, Mr. Heylman's daughter, will have a position in the offices of the Rock Island Plow company.
Mr. Heylman was formerly engaged with the Deere & Mankus Plow company at Moline, Ill., a city adjoining Rock Island. He is one of the most expert and thoroughly capable inventors in the country.

EACH PHONE CAMP CLAIMS MAJORITY

Rock County System May Be Sold to Wisconsin Co. And Then Again It May Not Be.
Independent telephone policies are becoming more and more complicated. The Wisconsin Co.'s offer to purchase the Rock County plant expired last evening but will doubtless be renewed, if the proper encouragement is forthcoming, and the spectacle is now presented of two hostile camps, among the stockholders, one in favor of selling out, the other desiring to hold the property, and each claiming to hold the majority of the stock by virtue of desertions from the other's ranks. Richard Valentine declares that he has an agreement to hold onto the property signed by interested parties holding 452 of the total 500 shares of stock. The other side claims 409.

The list of stockholders who are supposed to have signed an agreement not to sell their stock to the Wisconsin company, published in a morning paper, is not credited by those in favor of a sale. One of that party made the following statement this morning: "There is a good deal of fiction in that list. Mr. C. H. Weirick, for example, whose name appears there, told me this morning that he had never signed any such agreement nor authorized anyone to sign it for him. Other names have doubtless been used without authority."
"The facts about the telephone situation are that the Wisconsin company has made an offer to buy the stock of the Rock County company at $1.12 1/2 per share, all in cash, or part in Wisconsin Telephone company stock, and part in cash, as desired. Even if there was no uncertainty about the future of independent telephone companies in Wisconsin, this would be a good outlook for an independent company here. It would be the height of folly to refuse it. And the owners of a majority of the Rock County stock have accepted it in writing."

The reporter was shown the written offer and acceptance signed by the following parties:

- Shares.
- F. C. Grant.....30
- V. P. Richardson.....35
- H. D. Murdoch.....32
- M. P. Richardson.....32
- J. M. Hostwick & Sons.....136
- Frances B. Cook.....136
- Albert Schaller.....15
- C. H. Weirick.....10
- Fred H. Howe.....10
- W. H. Palmer.....70
- Theo. S. Sayles.....409

"The names of several of these stockholders appear in the list given this morning, but no intimation has been received from any of them that they would renounce their agreement. But a difficulty has arisen from the fact that all of the Rock County stockholders will not sell. Some stockholders have interests outside of their stock which would be affected by a sale and they will not sell at any price. And the Wisconsin company has demurred at accepting a majority of the stock, at the figures given, their offer being intended to cover all the stock. If they will accept a majority they can get much more than that at once. If they will not there is no sale. Negotiations are pending in regard to that and it will be settled now within a couple of days."

EARLY FROSTS MAY DAMAGE THE CROPS

Frost Reported in This Section Last Night—Thermometer May Drop Lower Tonight.

Should the thermometer drop as low tonight as it did last night, with a clear sky and a light wind from the north east, it is feared that a frost severe enough to hurt corn and other crops may result. In certain portions of the city last night, notably in Monterey, the ground was covered with hoar frost, while early this morning the planks of the Galena street viaduct were pure white. It is reported that in the low-lying country about Lake Kegonsa there was a heavy frost but thus far there has been no news of damaged crops. However, should the same conditions prevail tonight as did last night, it is feared that much damage may be done as only a small portion of the tobacco crop has been cut and corn has not yet matured. Considerable fear was expressed by P. Tohonen, Jr., this morning that the weather might become more severe tonight and damage the sweet corn which the company is packing. Only a portion of the large acreage controlled by the company has been harvested and a severe frost at this time of the year would cause a heavy loss. The weather report for Wisconsin today states that it will be partly cloudy tonight and Thursday and frosts are predicted for this evening. Warmer weather is prophesied for Thursday.

Friends in Chicago Will Come Here and Bear to His Wherabouts on Night of O'Connell Murder.
Attorney M. O. Mount has been retained as counsel by Laverne F. Raymond who is awaiting a hearing in municipal court on the charge of complicity in the murder of Michael Cronin. It is understood that witnesses of excellent repute and standing in Chicago have declared their willingness to come here and give evidence regarding Raymond's whereabouts on the night of Jan. 21. It appears that he was well known and well liked in that locality where he boarded and that it can be shown that he attended theatre party in company with another man and two young ladies on the night in question.

KNEEPAD FOR MINERS

Enables Wearer to Crawl Around Without Fear of Slipping.

The miner's calling is what accident insurance companies would term an "extra hazardous risk," but every little while some inventive genius brings forward an article designed to take care of the danger. One of these devices is the kneepad designed by three Illinois men; This pad is a concave steel plate worn over the knee with two sharp points turned outward. On the inside of the pad, toward the knee, is a cushion lining to allow the wearer to kneel on it without bruising himself. The harness worn with this guard consists of a pair of side bars running from the ankle to the knee. At the upper point they are attached to a strap, which buckles around the joint and at the foot they terminate in a contrivance which fits over the instep and around the heel, thus keeping the pad in place and preventing it from slipping around to one side. Equipped with this device a miner can crawl around on dangerous ledges with safety.

FORD MODEL T

This Car Combines Every Essential For Speed, Hill-Climbing, Unfailing Performance On Bad Roads, Easy Riding, Durability and Comfort.

IN FORD MODEL T YOU GET EVERYTHING

that a car at twice the price will give you. You get more, because its up-keep is much less.

The first Ford was built as the best car conceivable regardless of price and then a reasonable profit was added. It is the only car built entirely of VANADIUM STEEL, the lightest, strongest, toughest steel in existence, guaranteed not to break under a test of 50% greater than would be required to put any other steel in the junk pile, and that is a conservative statement. In no car can you secure better wheels, better tires, better castings, in short, better materials.

By building only one chassis we have arranged so that you can have a roadster, runabout, coupe, town car, with no additional expense except the cost of the extra body.

In the New York to Seattle race the Ford Model T proved under all conditions that it was superior to all other cars, not excepting those priced as high as $6,000.00.

ARE ON TRAIL OF BOLDTRAIN BANDIT

SCORES OF DETECTIVES HUNT LONE ROBBER OF PENN. SYLVANIA TRAIN.

10,000 PENNIES IN LOOT

Lincoln Cents Mistaken for Gold by Highwayman, Who Shoots Conductor, Wishes Crew Good Luck and Flees in Mountains.

Lawton, Pa., Sept. 1.—Detectives by the score today are running down every clue that may lead to the capture of the lone bandit who, early yesterday morning, stopped a Pennsylvania express train with dynamite and at the point of revolvers robbed it of several thousand dollars, including a great bag of Lincoln pennies which he thought contained gold coins.

When the conductor of the train attempted to interfere with the robber's plans he was shot in the hand and the bandit succeeded in escaping.

Mistaken Pennies for Gold.

In the darkness, however, he mistook a bag containing 10,000 new Lincoln pennies for gold coin and staggered away with it, leaving the real gold bullion to be recovered by the railroads.

When the train was leaving, he called out: "Good-by and good luck; I hope to see you again."

It is reported that in addition to the missing pennies several thousand dollars in currency was missing but the express company officials refuse to announce the exact amount of their loss.

When the news of the robbery reached the railroad and express company officials they were deeply concerned at its boldness and immediately ordered every available detective from the east and west to the scene in an effort to capture the audacious bandit. Bloodhounds were also put on his track.

Superintendent Preston and other officials of the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad have established headquarters at the signal tower near the scene to make as thorough an investigation of the crime as possible. The general superintendent and general manager of the Adams Express Company are on the ground to assist in directing the search.

Selects a Lonely Spot.

The looted train was made up of an engine, three express cars and two sleeping coaches filled with passengers. At about 1:30 a. m. it was running through Lowland narrow, a wild and lonely mountain gorge through which flows the Juniata river, when suddenly a dynamite cap exploded and the engine driver brought the train to a standstill. When he looked out to see what the trouble was he was confronted by a masked figure holding a revolver in either hand. "Are there any mail cars on this train?" demanded the highwayman.

"No," was the reply of the startled engineer.

The engine crew then was forced at the point of the gun to accompany the robber to the first express car, where the messenger was looking out to discover the cause of the sudden stopping of the train. A revolver was pointed at the messenger's head, and threatening to blow up the car with dynamite, the robber forced the messengers of the two express cars and engine crew to carry all the gold and bullion stacked in the first car to the side of the tracks.

Conductor I. R. Poffenberger, of Harrisburg, Pa., who came up while this work was being accomplished was ordered back by the bandit who emptied one of his revolvers at him, one of the shots penetrating his hand and the others grazing his body.

Couldn't Get His Rifle.

The express messenger of the train says there were five large iron safes in his car each containing a considerable sum of money, but he did not know how much, as they had been locked at Washington and could only be opened by sub-treasury officials at St. Louis. He had two rifles at the end of his car but could not get at them after he had opened the door and had been covered by the robber's revolver.

"I ran ahead when the train stopped," said Conductor Poffenberger, "to ascertain what was the matter, when I saw the engineer and fireman coming toward me. Then I heard a man's voice behind me saying, 'Stop. Hold up your hands or I'll kill you,' and when I proceeded forward I was shot in the hand. Three other bullets cut holes in my coat and others whizzed past my head. I was under the impression that the train was surrounded by desperadoes and I ran back to the rear of the train.

"My first thought was for the safety of the passengers in the unprotected train. I thought the robbers were about to enter all the cars and hold up the passengers."

Fat Aunt Wads Thin Nephew. Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Adeline Rucks of Wichita Falls, Tex., came all the way to Massachusetts to marry her nephew, Eli Hallinger, who is 60 years old, twice a widow, wealthy and weighs 250 pounds. He tips the scales at 115.

Chicago Cubs Rebel Has Offers from Two Eastern Teams.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 1.—John Kling, the baseball catcher, former member of the Chicago National baseball club, will manage an eastern team in either the National or American league next year. This statement was made by Kling after he had wired Clark Griffith, manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, declining Griffith's offer to join his club next season. "I have two propositions now before me," said Kling, "and I surely will accept one of them. Anyway, you can say I'll be back in baseball next year as the leader of an eastern club."

MINE OFFICIALS IN CLASH; 20,000 MEN STRIKE TO-DAY

President Lewis Defied by District Leaders in Pittsburgh Field—Trouble Over Powder.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—Twenty thousand miners in the Pittsburg district are expected to strike to-day, despite the fact that they have not the sanction of Thomas L. Lewis, president, or the national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, for such action.

District leaders decreed the strike after a conference lasting two days between the Pittsburg district mine operators and union officials over the use of black powder, the new explosives ordered by the state, in mining coal.

A proposition made during the conference to have a committee of five miners and five operators investigate the use of other permissible explosives was bitterly opposed by District President Feehan and other local officers. Upon this proposition came the wide split between the national and district organizations, the miners demanding by vote to stand by their district leaders.

President Lewis held another conference today with the operators, to settle the trouble. District President Feehan declares, however, he will order the men in his district to lay down their tools.

The present trouble between the national and district organization is the outgrowth of a long standing feud between Lewis and Feehan, dating back to Lewis' election to his present office.

In the investigation of the office of the president of the borough of Brooklyn alone Coler charges that the mayor has "misplaced public funds of the city of New York to the extent of at least $100,000."

WILL EXHUME SUTTON'S BODY

Head to Be Examined to Discover Nature of Wound.

Washington, Sept. 1.—When Secretary of War Dickinson approved the request of Mrs. James N. Sutton to disinter the body of her son, Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., of the marine corps from its grave at Arlington, he directed that the privilege be extended to the marine officers who were present with him on the night of the tragedy, to be represented should they so select.

No time has been set for the exhumation of the body, this being left to the wishes of Mrs. Sutton provided she gives adequate notice to the war department. She is awaiting the return of her counsel to the city. Surgeon Raymond Spear will represent the navy at the autopsy to determine the nature of the wound.

"FRAUDS UPON THE PUBLIC"
Is what some physicians have called patent medicines, and it is undeniably true that some are 'frauds' and some are even worse, because they are injurious. On the other hand, there are many patent medicines such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and others, which are of real worth, and are recommended by physicians of recognized standing.

She pressed her hands to her ears and rose at the same instant. Perhaps it was she, after all, and not her friend who had been brought suddenly to a great cross-road in life. She stood still one moment by the sofa without looking down at her companion; then she left the room abruptly, and shut the door behind her.

Van Torp got up from his seat slowly when she was gone, and went to the window, softly blowing a queer tune between his closed teeth and his open lips, without quite whistling.

"Well," he said aloud, in a tone of doubt, after a minute or two. "But he said no more, for he was much too reticent and sensible a person to talk to himself audibly even when he was alone, and much too cautious to be sure that a servant might not be within hearing, though the door was shut. He stood before the window nearly a quarter of an hour, thinking that Lady Maud might come back, but as no sound of any step broke the silence he understood that he was not to see her again that day, and he quietly let himself out of the house and went off, not altogether discontented with the extraordinary impression he had made.

Lady Maud sat alone upstairs, so absorbed in her thoughts that she did not hear the click of the lock as he opened and shut the front door.

She was much more amazed at herself than surprised by the offer he had made. Temptation, in any reasonable sense of the word, had passed by her life, and she had never before understood what it could mean to her.

She was eight-and-twenty years of age and a widow, and now it came to her suddenly in a shape of tremendous strength, through her trusted friend, who had helped her for years to help others. It was real temptation. The man who offered her a million pounds in exchange for her life, could offer her twice as much, four, five, or ten millions perhaps. No one knew the vast extent of his wealth, and in an age of colossal fortunes she had often heard him spoken of with the half-dozen greatest. "You can do quite a great deal of good with forty thousand pounds a year."

Van Torp's rough-hewn speech rang through her head, and somehow it made it stick in her memory, word for word. In the drawer of the writing table before which she was sitting there was a little file of letters that meant more to her than anything else in the world, except one dear memory. They were all from rescued women, they all told much the same little story, and it was good to read. She had made many failures, and some terrible ones, which she could never forget; but there were real successes, too, there were over a dozen of them now, and she had only been at work for three years. If she had more money, she could do more; if she had much she could do much; and she knew of one or two women who could help her. What might she not accomplish in a lifetime with the vast sum her friend offered her!—the price of hindering a marriage that was almost sure to turn out badly, perhaps as badly as her own!—the money value of a compromise with her conscience on a point of honor which many women would have thought very vague indeed, if not absurd in such a case. She knew what temptation meant, now, and she was to know even better before long. The prima donna had said that she was going to marry Logothetis chiefly because he insisted on it.

The duel for Margaret's hand had begun; Van Torp had aimed a blow that might well give him the advantage if it went home; and Logothetis himself was quite unaware of the skillful attack that threatened his happiness.

CHAPTER III.

A few days after she had talked with Lady Maud, and before Mr. Van Torp's arrival, Margaret had gone ter, and Mrs. Rushmore had given strict orders that until further notice Miss Donne was "not at home" for any one at all, no matter who might call.

"When the letter already covered ten pages, Margaret laid down her pen and without the least pause or hesitation tore the sheets to tiny bits, linking her fingers in the process because the last one was not yet dry.

"What a wicked woman I am!" she exclaimed aloud, to the very great surprise of Potts, her English maid, who was still unpacking in the next room, the door being open.

"Pardon me, ma'am?" the woman asked, putting in her head.

"I said I was a wicked woman," Margaret answered, rising. "And what's more, I believe I am. But I quite forgot you were there, Potts, or I probably should not have said it aloud."

"Yes, ma'am," answered Potts meekly, and she went back to her unpacking.

Margaret had two maids, who were oddly suited to her two natures. She had inherited Alphonse from her friend the famous retired soprano, Mme. Bonaparte, and the cadaverous, clever, ill-tempered, garrulous dresser was as necessary to Cordova's theatrical existence as paint, limelight, wig and an orchestra. The English Potts, the meek, silent, busy and intensely respectable maid, continually made it clear that her mistress was Miss Donne, an English lady; and that Mme. Cordova, the celebrated singer, was what Mr. Van Torp would have called "only a side-show."

The letter that had been torn up before it was finished was to have gone to Lady Maud, but Margaret herself had been almost sure that she would not send it, even while she was writing.

She had written that she had done very wrong in engaging herself to Logothetis; that was the "wickedness" she accused herself of, repeating the self-accusation to her astonished maid, because it was a sort of relief to say the words to somebody. She had written that she did not really care for him in that way; that when he was near she could not resist a sort of natural attraction he had for her, but that as soon as he was gone she felt it no longer and she wished he would "not come back; that her ideal of a husband was so and so, and this and that—and here fiction had begun, and she had put a stop to it by destroying the whole letter instead of crossing out a few lines—which was a pity; for if Lady Maud had received it, she would have told Mr. Van Torp that he needed no help from her since Margaret herself asked no better than to be freed from the engagement.

IT IS WONDERFUL.

MANY PEOPLE OF JANESVILLE ARE REPORTING GREAT RESULTS.

Many of the newspapers of Indiana and Ohio during the past few months have published a great deal about the new medicine that is now creating so much talk here in Janesville. Judging from the reports that are now pouring into the Reliable Drug Co.'s drug store, Root Juice is even more wonderful than is generally supposed.

A number of home people that have suffered for years with indigestion, rheumatism, kidney troubles or nervous conditions are reporting rapid recovery under the juice treatment. A well-known lady who for social reasons does not wish her name published said: "I was confined to my bed when I commenced to take Root Juice, but after taking a few doses, I was able to get up and am rapidly regaining flesh and strength. I had no appetite when I started with the medicine, and the food I forced down would sour and ferment in my stomach, causing a raw, burning sensation that was almost unbearable, but after taking the great remedy a few days, I am able to eat anything and digest it without a single disagreeable symptom."

The people at the Reliable Drug Co.'s drug store are now busy listening to reports of this nature and explaining the curative value of the great medicine. The scientist has hundreds of testimonials and many of them are from among the very best people of the county. The juice seems to have a wonderful, soothing, healing and tonic action on the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys. During the demonstration period it is sold for $1 a bottle, or three bottles for $2.50.

JUSTICE MOODY SERIOUSLY ILL

Associate on Supreme Bench Taken to Home at Haverhill, Mass.

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 1.—With many precautions for secrecy, Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States supreme court, was removed in an ambulance from the Bradford railroad station to his home here last night. It is understood his condition is serious.

Although Justice Moody's ailment was announced officially as a case of rheumatism and gout, local physicians who have known him for years believe it to be more serious. Justice Moody came here, it is understood, from a sanitarium in New York state, where he has been for several weeks following a short stay at Hot Springs, Ark. No intimation of his indisposition had been received here previously.

PRINT PAPER PRICES TO SOAR.

Advance Discussed at Manufacturers' Banquet in Appleton.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 1.—Forty paper manufacturers, representing practically every company in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, gave a banquet here last night in honor of G. Frank Steele of Port Edwards, special representative of the paper interests at Washington during the tariff bill fight.

It is said they discussed an increase in the price of print paper in the near future. One manufacturer admitted that print paper prices would stiffen soon, but would not say that uniform action would be taken.

Iowa Bank Is Robbed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—Two masked men held up F. H. Nipp, cashier of the Mills County German bank, late yesterday afternoon and escaped with $1,500 in cash. The cashier and two farmers were kept in the back room of the bank by order of the robbers while the second man took the money. A posse is in pursuit, but has not yet secured any trace of the robbers.
